Opening the exhibition will be guest speakers Mark Rowland, ambassador for Drake Music, and a representative from Wolfson Neurodisability Service. Mark's music attracts interest from many musicians, as well as hardware companies like Korg. Mark said:

As a composer and musician, about 80 percent of what I do is programming, and 20 percent is performance. My music is a blend of trance, techno and ambient styles. I began by triggering MIDI pads on my wheelchair, and then got into loop recording, which took two years.

Wolfson Neurodisability Service will talk about the provision of communication aids within the London area. There will also be a range of seminars and workshops throughout the day for visitors. Details will be on our website once all information has been confirmed. Refreshments will be available during the day and our student enterprise scheme Munchies will be present with their range of freshly made sandwiches and salads.
